LABOR BOARD SUBMITS PLAN TO RAIL HEADS

For Ending of Strike—Governments Says Mails Must Not Be Hindered

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, July 12—A program of the solution of the shipmen's strike was drawn today by Chairman Hooper of the Labor Board, after conferences with leaders of shipmen and was submitted to representatives of the railway executives from the country at a noon conference. It is said to be the result of a phone conversation late last night between W. L. McMenimen, labor member of the board, with President Harding. A promise of executives to receive the shipmen's proposals through Hooper is understood to have been communicated to McMenimen by the president.

Among the questions are a rehearing on the wage issue, changes of over-time pay rules, abolition of "farming out" repair work and the establishment of regional adjustment boards.

Railway executives later said they would give a reply to Hooper's proposals later.

SAYS VETERINARIAN IS REAL NECESSITY

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., July 12—The veterinary profession is facing a greater problem today than it has ever faced before, Dr. W. M. Cogee, La Center, asserted here today in speaking before the summer meeting of the Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association which is in progress at the College of Agriculture. He added that this problem was the training of veterinary practitioners for future years of service.

He questioned whether young men are going to spend the time and money that is necessary for them to obtain a veterinary degree and then settle down into private practice where they must undergo the hardships brought by emperies and competition.

"My solution for eliminating much of this competition is to charge the client a reasonable fee for services rendered and do it in a manner which will impress the client with the fact that the veterinarian is a professional man instead of an emperic or a salaried employee," he said.

"Be sociable with your clients. Treat them as you would have them treat you and invite them to make your office their headquarters while they are in town. Let your office be one that you would not be ashamed to have anyone visit. Such offices are as economical and as easily maintained as the back office of a livery stable which leads people to believe that we are horse doctors instead of veterinarians," he advised the veterinarians.

"The veterinary practitioner is a necessity in every community where domesticated animals are kept; he is the potential force in the protection and development of animal life and is the confidential advisor of the owner of livestock," the speaker continued.

"He pointed out that service should be the motto of every practitioner and then added, 'With the new discoveries in veterinary science which have been developed within the last decade, we might be led to believe that the veterinary practitioner is relieved of much of the professional worry and responsibility that he has been subjected to recently. As a matter of fact, the practitioner of today requires more skill than ever before.'

"I believe the practitioner of the future will have greater opportunities, enjoy greater privileges and find his vocation more desirable than he has in the past," the speaker concluded.

GREAT CROWDS THROUGH DEGARMO MEETING

Sunday was an eventful day for Calvary church. Evangelist Degarmo preached at the morning hour on the "Resurrection," and made clear many points of interest. In the afternoon he preached to a full house on "Heaven." This was a very tender and impressive service. "Heaven," he declared, "is a prepared place for prepared people. No one can be in Heaven as a place and also believe in hell its antithesis. For the same Bible teaches that there is a heaven and a hell. We will have unlimited knowledge there; and certainly we shall know our loved ones in heaven."

At the evening service the church could not accommodate the great throng that came. In addition to the regular pews, chairs were placed in the aisles, and in all available space, and yet the crowd could not be seated. Many could not get in the building. Rev. Degarmo stirred the great audience with his sermon "How Abraham was Saved." This is conceded to be the greatest sermon he has preached yet.

Monday night the house was full again and the evangelist preached on "The court of royal condemnation." This sermon was a court scene. The text was: "He that believeth on Him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed on the name of the only begotten son of God." Jo. 3:18. No saved man will ever be tried in this court but every unsaved man must face his trial there. In this court of courts Jesus Christ will be the judge and shall meet out just judgment. In that court there will be no injustice, no misunderstanding the law, no escape of justice, no bribery of the jurors, and there is no such thing as an unbeliever getting beyond the jurisdiction of that court. In the form of a dialogue he called forth the witnesses for the state or prosecution, which were: Imagination, memory, conscience, and will-power. These all bore testimony against the defendant who had not believed on Jesus Christ. Then he read the law, the Ten Commandments, which the defendant had not kept. Then he called forth witnesses for the defendant who were his brother, his father, his mother, his wife, his daughter. All these testified that he was a good man, but they knew nothing of his believing in Christ. And lastly, the defendant testified for himself.

On Thursday morning the subject will be "Scriptural Church." This is a live and vital subject and it is hopeful many will hear it. Beginning on Wednesday evening he will preach on Jo. 3:16 each evening throughout the remainder of the meeting; a series of fine sermons on "For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeth on him shall not perish, but have everlasting life." Jo. 3:16. This is the heart of the gospel and large crowds are expected to hear these sermons.

BIG TENT CITY IS PREPARED FOR CORBIN

L. & N. To Send 700 Men There To Operate Shops and Will Have Guards For Men

Establishment of a tent camp at Corbin to accommodate approximately 700 men required to operate the railroad shops there, was announced Tuesday in a public statement by Wible L. Mapother, president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, says the Louisville Times. The camp is now being prepared for the workers who will be sent there in short time, Mr. Mapother stated. Guards to protect the workers will also be sent.

While the situation at Corbin, described as a pivotal transportation point on the system, has been comparatively quiet, Mr. Mapother stated, the shops have been unable to operate, and the quiet had been obtained at the price of stifling the railway service. Mr. Mapother stated that practically all of the business, houses and officers of the city are strike sympathizers and that the railroad has even been refused supplies.

Open declarations that they will not permit others to take the places of the 686 men on strike have been made by strikers and their sympathizers, and the men who are to be sent there are to be protected, but with instructions not to start violence.

The procedure, Mr. Mapother stated, was not due to ill-will toward the strikers. It is the opinion of the railroad, he said, that they have been misled, and action has been delayed in the hope that they would return to work. At present there are fifty dead engines in the yard there, and 99 per cent of the coal cannot move, he said.

Unless certain towns and counties in which Louisville and Nashville railroad shops are located furnish protection to men working in the shops in the place of strikers the shops will be moved to other localities where facilities for doing the work are equally good.

Corbin Paper Tells About Strike There

(From Corbin Times)

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock 1,800 men employed in the round houses and by the mechanical department of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, laid down their tools and walked out. The strike situation, inasmuch as Corbin is concerned, remains unchanged. Since the walkout last Saturday none of the shop men have returned to work.

Forty-three men were brought in Sunday by the company, but more than half left the same day, following a conference with the strikers, who say that they were brought in under the impression that they were to be employed as guards but were later asked by the company to go to work in the shops. It is reported that at present only five or six men are working at the roundhouse.

Not more than ten per cent of the usual business is being done through the Corbin yards and disabled cars are piling up on the local shop tracks.

We are informed that various coal mines throughout this section are either shutting down or stacking up on account of not being able to get their product to market. Corbin being the gateway through which the principal business of the L. & N. railroad must come, it is considered one of the most important strike centers and was visited at various times during the week by the chief rail officials and the chairman of the brakenen, conductors, shop, firemen and engineer's unions.

The men who walked out Saturday have never at any time exhibited any signs of violence or boisterous conduct. They have gone about their business, meeting each day in the Hippodrome theatre, and spending the remainder of their time with their families and off the street.

The business men have lined up behind the striking shop men and practically every business house in the city bears a card warning scabs and strike breakers that their business is not solicited nor their presence wanted. Public sentiment, which a year ago would have been against the strikers, is now overwhelmingly in their favor, as many people

CLAIM NOW MADE

LINCOLN WAS DRY

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, July 11—Denial that Abraham Lincoln had once declared himself as opposed to prohibition was made today by the Rev. Duncan C. Milner, associate minister of the Presbyterian church, a civil war veteran and chaplain of the Loyal Legion.

In a statement intended to refute the claim of "certain wet organizations" that the "Immortal Lincoln had ever lent even a hint of approval to the liquor traffic," Rev. Milner, made public an affidavit signed by three nationally known men setting forth that an alleged quotation from Lincoln which was used in a local option campaign in 1887 was an admitted fraud.

The affidavit, signed by the Rev. Sam Small, evangelist, Rev. Sam Jones, and Henry W. Grady, declares that "some time after the campaign, Col. John B. Goodwin, who had been the director of the anti-prohibition forces, told that he himself had composed the alleged words of Lincoln so as to attract the adherence of the colored voters."

The alleged statement of Lincoln's views were set forth in a circular widely broadcast in the campaign, and did much to defeat the local option measure by winning over the entire colored vote to the side of the "wets," Rev. Milner explained.

The words credited to Lincoln, but since admitted to be those of another, were:

"Prohibition will work great injury to the cause of temperance. It is a species of intemperance itself, for it goes beyond the bounds of reason in that it attempts to control man's appetite by legislation, and in making crime out of things that are not crimes."

"A prohibitory law strikes a blow at the very principles on which our government was founded. I have always been found laboring to protect the weaker classes from the stronger, and I can never give my consent to such a law as you propose to enact. Until my tongue be silenced in death, I will continue to fight for the rights of man."

The quotation was headed, "Abraham Lincoln's Proclamation," and was followed by this appeal:

"Colored Voter: He appeals to you to protect the liberty he has bestowed upon you. Will you go back on his advice? Look to your rights. Read! Act! Vote!"

S. S. S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

Men and women—whether you will ever build yourself up to your normal, just-right weight depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact. If your blood-cell factory isn't working right, you will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps your face will be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S. S. S. keeps your blood-cell factory working full time. It helps build new blood-cells. That's why S. S. S. builds up thin, run-down people, it puts firm flesh on your bones, it rounds out your face, arms, neck, limbs, the whole body. It puts the "pink" in your cheeks. It takes the hollowiness from the eyes, and it fools Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles in men and women by "plumping" them up. S. S. S. is a remarkable blood-purifier. While you are getting plump, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, acne, rheumatism, rash, itchy blotches are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S. S. S. are guaranteed purely vegetable. Genuine Human Serial Brightens Broadway

Charlotte Greenwood Who Has Been "Continued" in Our Next for Six Years Now Says Sunshine Does It.

Introducing Charlotte Greenwood, unique human serial, who bids fair to run on forever, provided her authors' imagination holds out.

Six years ago in Los Angeles, Miss Greenwood, a comedienne so funny that you burst into giggles of impolite glee (only luckily she's not sensitive) the minute you catch sight of the long, lanky frame that she can twist and turn upside down and inside out, was starred in a show called "So Long Letty".

The piece was such a hit and the title role seemed to fit Charlotte so thoroughly that by the time Broadway was reached, everybody was calling her "Letty".

Her new nickname gave Charlotte the serial idea, and next season she demanded another "Letty" play, "Linger Longer Letty" was the outcome, and ever since, like the Five Little Peppers or the ubiquitous Elsie Dinsmore, Letty has put in an annual appearance.

This year her "continued from last season" was "Letty Pepper", with the additional offering of "Ray of Sunshine", a little song all about herself and her tendency, like the well-known brook, to go on forever.

"That song," declares Miss Greenwood, "sums up my whole philosophy of life, a philosophy that enables me to store enough happiness to supply eight audiences a week with the overflow. I am thinking of having

"I'm a little ray of sunshine" engraved on my writing paper as a sort of coat-of-arms."

WANTS NATIONAL PARK IN MOUNTAINS

(By Associated Press)

Middlesboro, Ky., July 12.—Creation of a National Park in the Cumberland mountains which would include the Pinnacle, Cumberland Gap and other places of interest, is provided for in a bill now being prepared by Representative J. M. Robison, of the 11th Kentucky district, for presentation to the next Congress, according to a letter received here from Senator Richard P. Ernst.

This region, it is pointed out, is noted for its natural beauty and historic setting and contains an abundance of timber and water. At one point the boundaries of Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee meet, and the Pinnacle, King Solomon's Cave and other places are of interest to sight-seers.

The Dixie Highway will pass through this preserve. The movement to establish a National Park in the mountains southeast of Cincinnati, was inaugurated by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and is being fostered by the Middlesboro Kiwanis Club.

WISCONSIN'S WOMAN SENATORIAL NOMINEE

(By Associated Press)

Oshkosh, Wis., July 11.—Mrs. Ben C. Hooper, of Oshkosh, Wis., is the first woman in Wisconsin to receive the endorsement of a political party for nominee as United States Senator. At the recent state democratic conference she was unanimously chosen to represent the party at the September primaries. This means that she will either oppose U. S. Senator Robert M. LaFollette or Dr. W. A. Ganfield, nominee of two different factions of the republican party, at the general election.

For the last 15 years Mrs. Hooper has been an ardent worker for woman suffrage. Marriage, according to Mrs. Hooper, does not destroy woman's identity and she is quoted as saying: "The time is coming when woman, in her tenacious ability to get what she is after, will find a way of marrying and having a home and family without giving up her identity and independence."

Mrs. Hooper spends a great deal of her time in assisting her husband in a general merchandising establishment and always finds time to take a fond interest in the care of her home.

There is no greater admirer of former President Wilson than Mrs. Hooper, who believes that the ideals he brought before the people of America while president will live forever in the history of the United States.

During the world war Mrs. Hooper was active in Wisconsin spending a great deal of her time as head of the Liberty Loan drives in Oshkosh and working with the Council of Defense. She is an ardent believer in world peace and believes that her life's work will have been accomplished if she can help bring about an understanding among the nations of the world.

Mrs. Hooper always has urged women to take an active part in politics, saying it was the home that was affected first of all by such measures as taxation and is quoted as saying: "Advancing taxes affect the home first of all, because it is the only place where the business man makes economic."

This is the first time that Mrs. Hooper has ever taken part in party politics though actively connected with many state movements.

Stanford Court Day

Monday was county court day at Stanford. The Journal says there were 600 cattle at Nunnell's Stock Pen and all were sold. The demand was for fat heifers and quite a number sold at high as 7c a pound. Prices ranged from 4 to 7 cents for the various kinds of cattle sold. The demand was fairly good. 300 sheep sold at an average of $9. Probably more sheep have been sold on the market here this year than in a decade. Few horses changed hands during the day, but several mules were disposed of at $125 to $160. The day was not a brisk one from any standpoint and the crowd was the smallest in a long time.

The six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long died early this week at their home near Kirksville of summer complaint.

Ed Baxter, colored, died at his home near Kirksville at the age of 88 years. He was a respected, honorable citizen of that community and had many white friends as well as those of his own race.

—next after religion and the public school

James J. Hill, builder of the Great Northern Railroad, in the following terse language expressed the importance of American Railroads: "While the railways of the United States may have mistakes to answer for, they have created the most effective, useful, and by far the cheapest system of land transportation in the world. This has been accomplished with very little legislative aid and against an immense volume of opposition and interference growing out of ignorance and mis-understanding. It is not an exaggeration to say that in the past history of this country the railway, next after the Christian religion and the public school, has been the largest single contributing factor to the welfare and happiness of the people."

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad

operating in thirteen states and immediately serving the entire South, East and Central West, including the richest agricultural section of the Nation, has done its part with religion and the public school.

The agricultural and industrial development of L. & N.-served territory, concurrent with the development of the railroad itself, furnishes an object lesson amply substantiating the text of this advertisement.

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Many Mothers Left in Weakened Condition

Many, many letters similar to the following recommend the Vegetable Compound as a wonderful medicine for bringing the mother back to normal health and strength.

It is an excellent restorative, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken in safety by a nursing mother. Thousands of mothers who have regained their strength by taking it are its best recommendation. Very likely you know some. Why not take it yourself?

Will Gladly Answer Questions

Olney, Ill.—"For over a year after my boy was born I was troubled with weakness of the female organs. All my strength would leave me and I had headache, nervousness, backache, and I could not do anything. I saw your advertisement in the papers and read what your Vegetable Compound did for others, so I gave it a trial. After the first few doses I could tell a change (some might think this impossible, but it is true). I took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and felt so fine that I neglected to take any more for about a year. This past winter I had pains again so I have used the Vegetable Compound again. I tell everyone I know of the good of this medicine. It is a great help to women who are weak and nervous."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lowell, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

me questions about the medicine I will gladly tell her what I know."—Mrs. CHARLES VAUGHN, Olney, Ill. Baltimore, Md.—"I first used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for general weakness following the birth of my first child. Later on the advice of my mother I used it for a dull pain in the small of my back and for a bearing-down feeling. These pains had an effect on me to such an extent that very often I was unable to stand on my feet to do my housework, and at times I was compelled to lie down for short periods. I found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound very helpful and recommend it highly."—Mrs. LORETTA B. SIMONS, 645 S. Belvidere Ave., Baltimore, Md.

"Cannot Thank You Enough"

Allentown, Pa.—"After my last baby was born I lost weight and was in a very run-down condition. After taking the second bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to gain strength and flesh. In the past four months I have done all my own housework and do an extra wash besides. I do not feel at all like I used to and I cannot thank you enough for my health. My friends ask me what I am doing and I recommend your medicine."—Mrs. WM. STECKEL, 241 Elliger St., Allentown, Pa.

KENTUCKY FARMERS' WIVES SATISFIED

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., July 10—Despite all that has been said about the drudgery and slavery of farm life Kentucky farm women as a whole still are satisfied with their lot and are willing that their daughters should follow in their footsteps.

They have said as much in their answers to the questions, "If you had a daughter of marriageable age, would you, in the light of your own experiences, want her to marry a farmer?" which was submitted to them by Dan A. Wallace, directing editor of The Farmer's Wife, a St. Paul, Minn., publication.

Replies of Kentucky farm women to the question have been submitted to the College of Agriculture here and will be tabulated in an effort to work out a more comprehensive program for the solution of farm and home problems in the state.

In all, a total of 75 Kentucky women answered the question, 71 of them voting "yes" and only five of them "no", making the negative percentage of answers 7.3. In this respect, Kentucky was above the national average of six per cent. A total of 7,000 women, including those from practically every state in the union submitted answers.

The negative percentage of answers in Indiana was 5.6, while Tennessee scored a negative percentage of 11. In this respect Kentucky stood about midway between the neighboring states of Indiana and Tennessee.

Extracts from the letter of one woman voted "yes" follow:

"I want my daughter to marry a farmer; I want her to be happy and as near what God wants a good woman to be as is possible in these evil days.

"Not a drudge. She has not been raised to be one any more than our city bred daughter has been raised to spend her life in one of the hundreds of sweat shops in the city. The old mistaken idea that all farm women are drudges is an old and out of date as the spinning wheel and loom that our great grandmothers used. All the tired faced women in the world are not farm women.

"I know the hardships of a working woman's life in the city. I know the lure and temptations of an idle life; I know the peace and happiness of life in the country."

"God bless the farmers' wives. I say if we get tired of it we are free, we can pull up and crowd into the city as we say, one and all, 'save your pity'."

A few of the reasons given by those who voted "no" follow:

"Never made money but never had a chance."

"Daily grind takes sparkle from the eye, the light from the soul."

"Lack of amusement."

"Long working hours—4 a. m. to 7 p. m."

"Takes a fat salary to keep help away from the bright lights."

"Success is influenced by wealth or conditions."

"Difficulties around average farm home tires a woman's soul."

This is the usual report after an inspection of a motor that throughout all of its service-life has been kept properly lubricated with the right amount and the right "body" of motor oil. It reduces frictional wear, forms a perfect piston ring seal under all conditions of clearance, temperature, speed and load; prevents excessive carbon deposits, gasoline waste and dilution of oil in your crank case. Convention Sentiment Grows

That sentiment is growing among Kentucky democrats for the nomination of the new state ticket by a convention instead of a primary, is indicated by the attitude of the state editors in favor of the convention method at the recent session at Crab Orchard Springs. Fully 90 per cent of the democratic editors were outspoken in favoring a convention-made ticket next year and their wishes are expected to have much weight with governing authority of the party when the time comes to make the decision as to the manner of making the nominations for Governor and other state offices. In the opinion of most of the democratic editors, the convention plan offers the best and most feasible way for the selection of a strong and winning ticket in the coming state race.—Louisville Times

LEGION'S ESSAY CONTEST EXTENDED

The national essay contest of the American Legion which will award $1,500 in cash prizes to boys and girls has been extended until October 7 upon the urgent request of state and county superintendents and commissioners of education throughout the United States.

The new date will allow all children of the United States and its possessions to participate after the schools open in September, giving the teachers an opportunity to present the subject, "How the American Legion Can Best Serve the Nation."

Meanwhile, scores of letters have been received by Mr. Garland W. Powell, assistant national director, at national headquarters of the American Legion in Indianapolis, from state school officials telling of unanimous cooperation. In nearly every state educational officials are urging that boys and girls be interested in writing this essay as vacation activity. A circular to county superintendents issued by Mrs. Josephine Corliss Preston, superintendent of public instruction, Olympia, Washington, emphasizing the vacation advantage of the test is one of many.

The cash prizes divided into $750 for the first, $500 for the second and $250 for the third, are to be used toward scholarships in colleges designated by the winners. In each state there will be a first prize silver medal for the best essay in that state, and a bronze medal for the second best. Other prizes to be announced later, will be awarded.

All girls and boys between the ages of 12 and 18 inclusive are eligible to enter the contest, regardless of whether they are school attendants. The essay must not be more than 500 words in length. Age of writer will be given due consideration.

The essay must be received at a place designated by the county superintendent of schools not later than midnight of October 6, 1922. The winning essays of the 1922. The winning essays of the state department Americanism chairman of the American Legion not later than October 20. The winners of the state group then are to be forwarded to the National Americanism Director of the American Legion at Indianapolis where the first, second and third national winners will be chosen.

HORNWORMS START RAID ON TOBACCO

Lexington, Ky., July 11—Tobacco growers are facing the annual task of ridding their plants of hornworms, recognized as the worst insect pest of the crop in Kentucky, according to H. H. Jewitt, entomologist at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. The adults, or moths, appear from the first week in June to about the middle of August while the maximum number of worms are apparent in the field about August 15, he said. The worms are so destructive that tobacco could not be grown successfully without the use of control measures for them, he added.

Hand worming cannot be relied on to keep tobacco free from worms even with the most careful examination of each plant, while Paris Green, which formerly was used quite extensively to kill the pests, is giving way to arsenate of lead. The latter material adheres to the plants longer than does Paris Green and therefore is more effective while it rarely injures the plants even when an excessive amount is used. This material has an added advantage in that it can be used during periods of unsettled or rainy weather.

The arsenate of lead is applied to the tobacco by means of a dust gun. The old style guns are being replaced by those with fans ten inches or more in diameter and having special devices for preventing clogging at the outlet. Where it is necessary to use an old style gun, the arsenate should be mixed with an equal bulk of sifted wood ashes. The dusting should be done when there is no breeze, either in the morning when the dew is on the plants or in the evening. An active operator can dust several acres in a day.

Under average conditions from three to five pounds of the arsenate an acre is sufficient for one dusting. At least two dustings should be made, while a third is sometimes necessary. Where it is necessary to apply the poison as a spray, because of the lack of dusting apparatus, from three to five pounds of the arsenate should be used to 100 gallons of water. Brands of arsenate of lead containing at least 30 per cent arsenic oxide, of which not more than one per cent is free or water soluble, should be used.

Mason County's Blind Fan

Maysville, Ky., July 12—In Col. William B. Dawson, Maysville has perhaps the only blind baseball fan in the country. Although he has been totally blind for nearly 12 years, Col. Dawson attends almost every game played. From his reserved seat in the grandstand Col. Dawson tells with remarkable accuracy every play that is made. He is able to keep track of the runs, plays and hits as they are made. From long practice he is able to tell by the sound and nature the direction of a hit ball the instant after it leaves the bat.
